

Chief Operations Office

COO

Russell Leiman
Regional Managing Director
Asia-Pacific Conservation Region

Russell Leiman assumed leadership of The Nature Conservancy's Asia-Pacific Region in 1999. Russell comes to TNC from a successful career in global finance and a lifelong advocacy for conservation projects worldwide. He has extensive experience in international business and securities throughout the Asia-Pacific Region.

Mr. Leiman is a former Managing Director of Peregrine Derivatives Ltd. in Hong Kong; Director of Credit Lyonnais Capital Markets, Chairman of Credit Lyonnais Securities Asia, CEO of Credit Lyonnais Securities in London; and prior to that was CEO of Citicorp Scrimgeour Vickers International Ltd in New York. Russell was a Member of the London Stock Exchange and a Registered Principal with the SEC in the United States. In both his business and personal endeavors, Russell has maintained a strong interest and involvement in conservation organizations and issues.

Russell Leiman
© TNC

Prior to joining the Conservancy Russell was a volunteer advisor to the Conservancy's Asia-Pacific Region on policy and finance, and worked with our staff and various international experts to plan effective strategies for strengthening the national parks system in Indonesia, with special emphasis on privatization opportunities in Komodo National Park. Russell also led the Conservancy's efforts to define options and recommendations for private sector finance-related conservation opportunities, including sustainable forestry and fisheries. He was a Council member of Flora and Fauna International, an advisor to the founding committee of the New York-based Rainforest Alliance, and continues to support and advise the Orangutan Foundation, UK.