

A Legacy Club Journey: West Texas & Big Bend

DATES

October 16–October 22, 2023

PRICE

Double Occupancy: $5,260

Single Occupancy: $6,075

Your journey begins in El Paso, Texas where you will be met by your guide before departing on a three-hour scenic drive to Marfa. On arrival, choose to explore this eclectic town filled with art, history and, of course – the Marfa lights (you'll have to wait until nighttime to see these!). Your home for the next two nights is the historic Hotel Paisano.

Explore the Davis Mountains Preserve, where TNC is actively working to protect 33,075 acres of awe-inspiring natural landscape. As population continues to grow, Texas land is fragmenting faster than any other state, making the conservation of this wild and remote sky island more important than ever.

Next, head south to Big Bend National Park; the largest protected area of the Chihuahuan Desert in the United States, it features foreboding canyons, desert expanses, lush forested mountains, and the Wild and Scenic Rio Grande. We'll spend three nights here in the park at Chisos Mountains Lodge.

With your TNC hosts, hike through Big Bend and explore its staggering vistas, desert floor, and alpine environment – a unique landscape you can experience all at once. Outside of the park, visit an old mining town turned ghost town – with its decaying buildings, mine shafts and boot hill cemetery, Terlingua dates to the early 1900s. Finally, experience a half day on the Rio Grande and take in the diversity of Big Bend from the water – there's no better place to see this wonderful landscape!

After additional time for hiking and a dark sky program, return to Marfa for one evening before heading back to El Paso.

With exclusive insight from TNC experts, visits to local preserves, and local highlights, you'll experience unique places throughout West Texas that most visitors never see.

HIKE AMONGST THE DESERT LANDSCAPE

The Chihuahuan Desert covers about 80% of Big Bend National Park; a typical desert landscape, beyond the bare, rocky and sparse vegetation are bird life, yucca and cacti and in the springtime, blossoms galore.

FLOAT ON THE RIO GRANDE

Float through 800-foot high volcanic basalt and rhyolite rock as we make our way through Big Bend Ranch State Park.

VISIT BIG BEND NATIONAL PARK

TNC's relationship to Big Bend dates back to the 1980s as conservationists worked to add the 67,000-acre North Rosillos Mountain Ranch to the national park to protect the property in perpetuity. In all, it took support of Texas lawmakers and a three-year congressional process to do so. This expansion is just one example of the commitment TNC has to expanding public lands across the world.

Your trip supports the local communities you're traveling in and The Nature Conservancy's efforts locally and globally. This trip has been planned specifically by The Nature Conservancy's team of scientific experts and travel liaisons to immerse you in the work the Conservancy is doing on the ground that has global consequences.

THE CONSERVATION LANDSCAPE

LAND FRAGMENTATION

Formed by volcanoes and sculpted by wind and water, the Davis Mountains rise more than 8,300 feet above sea level out of the expansive Chihuahuan Desert. They form one of only three of the state's unique sky islands—a cooler, wetter landscape surrounded by arid lowland desert. As Texas continues to grow and develop, natural resources are being stretched to their limits, impacting biodiversity, habitat preservation and freshwater supplies. In addition to the 33,075 acres of the preserve, TNC has protected more than 110,000 additional acres throughout the region through partnerships and easements, maintaining important wildlife corridors that allow plants and animals to thrive, and promoting dark skies critical to ongoing astronomical research.

CONSERVATION PARTNERSHIPS

Ponderosa Pines are prevalent in the Davis Mountains; a keystone species, it links the plants, soil and wildlife in this landscape, allowing the ecosystem to thrive. Through drought and wildfire, much of the population has not survived and those that have, have been exposed to infestations such as the Western Pine Beetle. A large portion of the existing Ponderosa Pines are within TNC's Davis Mountain Preserve and in 2014, TNC began working with the Texas A&M Forest Service to assess the health of the forest. Since then, they have worked in partnership to build healthy, sustainable forests and through research, formed a strategy to reintroduce Ponderosa Pines to areas where the species had been lost. Through thinning activities, foresters have been successful in allowing the existing trees to become more resilient, proven by lower fire behavior in subsequent fires in the years since.

ITINERARY

DAY 1 — Monday, October 16th | Arrive in El Paso by noon. Upon arrival at the airport, you will be welcomed by your guide and Nature Conservancy hosts. Making our way south, we'll get our first look at the Chihuahuan desert ecology. Despite extremes – hard, blistering daytime temperatures and below-freezing at night – the desert is teeming with an extraordinary amount of life. Continue towards Marfa where you'll have time to settle into your room at the historic Hotel Paisano before enjoying a cocktail reception followed by dinner in town.

OVERNIGHT AT HOTEL PAISANO

DAY 2 — Tuesday, October 17th | After breakfast at the hotel, we will transfer 1 hour and 15 minutes to the Davis Mountains Preserve. Here, TNC hosts will give you an overview of the landscape; wild and remote, it is among Texas' most awe-inspiring areas, forming a unique sky island consisting of a cool, wet landscape surrounded by arid lowland deserts. Hear how TNC, amongst increasing population and development, is working to protect areas such as Davis Mountains Preserve from land fragmentation to maintain large, intact landscapes that are vital wildlife corridors, promote dark skies, and support water sources needed to maintain diverse flora and fauna. With conservation staff, take a driving tour up Madera Canyon where we'll enjoy a scenic picnic lunch.

In the afternoon, we will have the opportunity to hike within the landscape, winding through pinyon-oak juniper woodlands before experiencing the impressive views of Madera Canyon. In the afternoon, return to Hotel Paisano and freshen up before dinner.

OVERNIGHT AT THE HOTEL PAISANO

DAY 3 — Wednesday, October 18th | Today we will make our way to The Blackwell School, a segregated school for children of Mexican descent until 1965. We'll have a picnic lunch in town before departing towards Big Bend National Park.

Mid-afternoon, we'll arrive at Chisos Mountains Lodge, our home for the next three nights. Nestled in the Chisos Basin at 5,400 feet elevation, it is the perfect place to base ourselves for explorations. Before dinner, take time to learn about the relationship between The Nature Conservancy and the National Park Service; TNC's commitment to helping expand public lands is on display both here at Big Bend and across the country. Dinner will take place at the lodge.
